INTRODUCTION TO THE BCPVPA LEADERSHIP STANDARDS FOR PRINCIPALS & VICE-PRINCIPALS IN B.C.

The Leadership Standards for Principals and Vice-Principals in British Columbia were first established in 2007. The document was and is designed to hold student and adult development, engagement, and learning central to all leadership practices. The format and content of the Leadership Standards has earned the respect of B.C. educational leaders and partners, including the B.C. Ministry of Education. The Leadership Standards have received international recognition as a comprehensive and practical guide to educational leadership in British Columbia. Since conception, continual research and review has led to periodic revision of the Leadership Standards so as to remain current and relevant. Each revision is undertaken by a committee of practicing Principals and Vice-Principals, and we thank all who have been involved at each stage of development.

Students, educators and school communities thrive through skilled educational leadership (B.C. Ministry of Education, 2017, p.15). This reference from the document Leadership Development in the B.C. Education Sector echoes Michael Fullan who, over a decade ago, concluded "for teacher development to have a largescale and lasting impact on student learning as a whole, the research is unequivocal – you cannot do it without quality, active leadership" (2006, p.1 Quality leadership = Quality learning: Proof Beyond Reasonable Doubt).

Successful leadership can play a significant role in improving student learning. Evidence about the effects of successful leadership of student learning justifies the important claim: Leadership is second to classroom instruction among all school related factors that contribute to what students learn at school.

K. Leithwood et al., 2004

As the complexity of tasks for today's leaders continues to grow in breadth and depth, the B.C. Principals' & Vice-Principals' Association (BCPVPA) Leadership Standards will act as a learning guide for aspiring leaders, and for Principals and Vice-Principals at all stages of their careers. The Leadership Standards will also continue to provide direction for the design of school, district and provincial leadership development programs.

The purpose of the Leadership Standards is to foster continuous professional learning and development in working towards effective leadership. The Leadership Standards, as they are written, are generic, context dependent and aspirational. As such, this document may be used to help frame individual professional growth plans that support sustainability and best practice; it is not intended as an instrument for evaluation or judgment of the individual performance of Principals and Vice-Principals.

About The BCPVPA

The B.C. Principals' and Vice-Principals' Association (BCPVPA) is a voluntary professional association representing school leaders employed as Principals and Vice-Principals in B.C.'s public education system. The BCPVPA is proud to have more than 2600 members in the province's 60 school districts, and all school districts in the province have a local Principal and Vice-Principal association recognized as a Chapter of the BCPVPA. BCPVPA membership is open to any Principal, Vice-Principal or Director of Instruction at the school or district level.

The BCPVPA has developed and presented programs to meet the professional needs of B.C.'s educational leaders and has been an effective advocate for public education, working with both government and sector partners to nurture and enhance student success. The BCPVPA offers programs designed to increase the leadership capacity of our members and to ensure the high performance of our system, and provides support and guidance to members who require assistance related to employment relations.

Using the Leadership Standards

The Leadership Standards are intended to provide a framework for continuous professional learning and development, and leadership succession, specifically through:

 Professional preparation and development of aspiring Principals and Vice-Principals

The structure of the Leadership Standards can be used in the planning and delivery of programs for teachers who are aspiring to be Principals and Vice-Principals.

 Induction of new Principals and Vice-Principals through mentoring and coaching and/or cohort support programs New Principals and Vice-Principals can use the Leadership Standards to reflect on and strengthen their practice.

 Personal professional growth planning of Principals and Vice-Principals

Experienced Principals and Vice-Principals can use the Leadership Standards, the action statements and possible reflective questions for self-reflection and self-assessment, as the basis for professional growth planning.

 Coherence among existing and new leadership programs

The Leadership Standards can be used as a foundation for professional programs, to bring coherence to the work that is currently underway and to future initiatives by education partners.

Leadership and Management

Effective Principals and Vice-Principals learn to both lead the learning and manage the organization simultaneously. Leadership and management can often be perceived as competing forces, but as Bruce Beairsto (2006) states, "leadership and management are the yin and yang of organizations as they are coexistent, mutually infused, and interdependent".

Within the Leadership Standards, leadership and management are not viewed as mutually exclusive; rather, their integration is recognized as critical to supporting effective leadership. Effective and efficient management practices must underpin quality leadership. Given that some management functions are locally determined, individuals and districts are encouraged to elaborate and pursue professional learning and development on the specific management practices that support this work in their district context.

Flexible Differentiation of Leadership Standards to Local Contexts

The Leadership Standards acknowledge that the political and organizational contexts in which leaders work significantly influence the nature of leadership actions. The Domains, Standards, and Action Statements are designed to present essential understandings of what Principals and Vice-Principals need to know and be able to do. The generic nature of the Leadership Standards recognizes that Principals and Vice-Principals practice in diverse contexts – rural, remote or urban settings, small and large facilities, elementary, middle and secondary or district setting, and in a range of ethnic and socio-economic school communities. The format enables Principals and Vice-Principals to adhere to the Leadership Standards in a variety of ways through application of professional judgment relative to their local context.

Leadership Standards Format

The Leadership Standards is organized into four Domains, nine Standards, and numerous Action Statements. This structure is intended to reflect the format of the B.C. Curriculum.

Domains = Big Ideas

Standards = Core Competencies

Action Statements = Leadership (Curricular Competencies)

The First Peoples Principles of Learning enrich the understanding of quality leadership and have been integrated throughout the document.

Domains – Big Ideas

The four domains reflect current thinking and represent the most important dimensions of the role of the Principal and Vice-Principal.

Each Domain contains a descriptor and core Belief Statement.

- Ethical Leadership
- Instructional Leadership
- Relational Leadership
- Organizational Leadership

Standards – Core Competencies

Each Standard contains a specific descriptive statement and a particular focused principle(s) from the First Peoples Principles of Learning.

Action Statements – Leadership (Curricular) Competencies

Specific Action Statements and corresponding possible reflective questions guide and support the expectations for quality leadership practice within each Standard within the context of the B.C. curriculum.

Self-Assessment Tool

Professional growth is both a personal responsibility of Principals and Vice-Principals and a system responsibility. Principals and Vice-Principals know the value of professional growth models that are based upon personal reflection and self-assessment as constructive methods to support their professional learning and development. Many connect with their colleagues, 'critical friends', mentors or coaches for assistance with their professional growth plans.

To support professional learning and development and as an adjunct to the Leadership Standards, self-assessment tools are available in two formats:

BetterEducate Platform – bettereducate.
 com/BCPVPA "My Growth Plan". This step-by-step process guides Principals and Vice-Principals through the creation of an online, portfolio style growth plan based on the self-assessment of each Action Statement for all Standards.

Action Statement and contains a hard copy of the Self-Assessment tool.

Glossary of Educational Terms

A glossary of educational terms is included in the document to create common understandings and to ensure that the language is accessible to members of the profession and the public.

References

A reference section outlines the array of research and professional literature that was accessed and reviewed by the committee in the development of the Leadership Standards. The references also can serve as a resource to inform professional learning and development for Principals and Vice-Principals.

Acronyms

A section of acronyms specific to the B.C. context is included for reference. While the list is extensive, we acknowledge that not all agencies pertinent to education in the local context are included. Where possible, a direct website link is provided in the online version of the Leadership Standards.

THE FIRST PEOPLES PRINCIPLES OF LEARNING

With the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada Calls to Action and the redesigned B.C. Curriculum, Principals and Vice-Principals have been tasked with being the advocate and champion of Indigenous Education in buildings, curriculum planning, teaching practices and learning environments.

The BCPVPA is dedicated to ensuring that the First Peoples Principles of Learning are authentically reflected within the revised Leadership Standards. The Ministry of Education and First Nations Education Steering Committee (FNESC) resource was chosen as a foundational guide as it is a document with which most B.C. Principals and Vice-Principals are familiar.

Not every Principal and Vice-Principal is at the same place in the journey when it comes to Indigenous Education; some are 'Sticking a Toe in the Water' while others are 'Paddling in the Deep Waters'. As such, embedding the First Peoples Principles of Learning within the current Leadership Standards is an important step in igniting and maintaining conversations about Indigenous Education in classrooms, schools and districts.

The inclusion of Indigenous Education is based on the understanding that Indigenous perspectives and knowledge are a part of the historical and contemporary foundation of B.C. and Canada. An important goal in integrating Indigenous perspectives into curricula is to ensure that all learners have opportunities to understand and respect their own cultural heritage as well as that of others.

B.C. Curriculum - Indigenous Education

The First Peoples Principles of Learning

- Learning ultimately supports the well-being of the self, the family, the community, the land, the spirits and the ancestors

 Align financial, personnel and curricular resources with district strategic plans, enhancement agreements, and school priorities.

- What structures and processes do you have in place to ensure financial resources are effectively managed?
- How are resources allocated to support diverse learners in an equitable manner?
- How do you organize your school to optimize learning for all?
- How do you assign staff to maximize their capacity to support the diversity of learners?
- How might you determine if existing learning resources are authentic and culturally appropriate?

Action Statement

 Facilitate an effective school growth planning process.

Possible Reflective Questions

- How do you build collaborative teams, structures, and processes that support student learning?
- How are you using school based and external evidence to inform planning, monitor progress and manage change?
- How are you remaining connected to current learning and research?
- How are you using current Indigenous learning and research to build capacity within the learning community?

Action Statement

 Develop and implement a communication protocol for your school community.

Possible Reflective Questions

- What processes are in place to determine your communication is effective and meeting the needs of the learning community?
- How do you ensure school communication protocols align with district protocols?
- How do you challenge pre-existing assumptions and biases?

Action Statement

 Understand and ensure appropriate processes are followed for staff evaluation, investigation, and discipline.

- What are the processes for assessment and evaluation of staff?
- What are the processes that lead you to determine the next steps in your supervisory role of a staff member?

SELF-ASSESSMENT TOOLS

Two platforms of a self-directed assessment tool are offered to assist Principals and Vice-Principals in identifying leadership areas they wish to further develop. The tool is designed to identify areas of focus within a Domain or Standard that becomes the foundation for a professional growth plan that supports effective leadership.

 BetterEducate Platform – bettereducate.com/ BCPVPA is a platform for resource sharing and Growth Plan development. "My Growth Plan Folder" provides a step-by-step process guiding Principals and Vice-Principals through the creation of an online, portfolio style growth plan based on self-assessment and reflection.

Principals and Vice-Principals must have a BetterEducate Login to access My Growth Plan Folder. Contact the BCPVPA office to obtain a Promo Code for free registration.

- The steps begin with the articulation of your purpose and vision.
- Initial Self-Assessment contains the complete Leadership Standards – Domains and Standards.
- Each Standard within a Domain contains the series of Action Statements and Possible Reflective Questions.
- Examples of Practice for each Action Statement can be electronically entered in the form of files, links or notes. These Examples of Practice become the basis of a professional portfolio.
- A Self-Assessment rank of 1 to 4 can be entered for each Action Statement. Totals are automatic and compiled for each Standard and Domain.
- Professional Growth Plan goals are developed incorporating reflection of the self-assessment.

Multiple annual growth plans can be saved.

- Growth Plans in BetterEducate may be electronically shared with colleagues as predetermined by the individual Principal or Vice Principal. This collaboration supports professional learning and development across the province.
- Self-Assessment Workbook bcpvpa.bc.ca/ leadership-standards/ PDF copies are available through the BCPVPA website as well as on BetterEducate.
- The Workbook is a document of the complete Leadership Standards in the format of previous versions.
- Each Standard within a Domain contains the series of Action Statements and Possible Reflective Questions.
- Examples of Practice for each Action Statement can be added as you choose directly on the Workbook page.
- Self-Assessment tool at the back of the Workbook contains the Action Statements for each Domain where a rank of 1 to 4 is entered, totalled and Professional Growth Plan goals can be articulated.

GLOSSARY OF EDUCATIONAL TERMS

Accountability

Accountability is the regular monitoring and assessment of students, curriculum, schools, and the education system to identify what is working in the system and what is not and to provide an informed basis for change.

In the context of institutional accountability, assessments are undertaken to determine the effectiveness of schools and their personnel. In the context of school improvement, assessment is an essential tool for evaluating the effectiveness of changes in the teaching-learning process.

Assessment Literacy

Assessment literacy is the possession of knowledge about the basic principles of sound assessment practice, including its terminology, the development and use of assessment methodologies and techniques, and familiarity with standards of quality in assessment.

Change Process

Change involves a shift in beliefs, behaviours, or resources. The change process is the systematic approach and application of knowledge, tools, and resources to deal with change. It requires defining and adopting effective strategies, structures, procedures, and technologies.

Code of Conduct

Code of Conduct describes the rights, responsibilities, and procedures for managing the behaviour of all persons on school and district premises.

Collaboration

Collaboration is a process that occurs among individuals which enables participants to address issues and accomplish goals more successfully than they could have independently, by bringing their collective skills, knowledge, and perspectives to the situation.

Collaborative Tension

The dissonance and tensions between the teacher educator's pedagogical aspirations, expectations and assumptions about participants and participants' own perspectives of themselves and others.

The dissonance and tensions allow for the creation of new knowledge and capabilities so that participants individually get better as a result of the collaboration.

Six Tensions of Collective Impact by Chris Thompson

Collective Efficacy

Through collective actions educators can influence student learning. When a team of individuals share the belief that through their unified efforts, they can overcome challenges and produce intended results, groups are more effective. Through collective actions educators can powerfully influence student learning.

Continuum of Learning

Also referred to as 'lifelong learning', continuous learning takes place across all curricular areas both formally and informally, and includes all ongoing learning activities undertaken, with the aim of continuously improving knowledge, skills, and competencies.

Culture

Culture operates at four levels: artifacts, traditions, language, and values and beliefs. Culture is how we think about our environment. Others define culture as a pattern of basic assumptions by a given group or the way we do things 'around here'. School cultures are complex webs of traditions and norms.

An inclusive culture embraces the uniqueness and dignity of all individuals and fosters shared beliefs and values. An inclusive culture is characterized by broad community engagement and cooperation.

Data Informed Decision-making

A process of making decisions about curriculum and instruction based on the analysis of school, classroom, and standardized assessment data. The process involves organizing and interpreting the data and creating action plans based on the data to plan for improvement.

Distributed Leadership

Distributed Leadership concentrates on engaging expertise wherever it exists within the organization. The distributed perspective focuses on how leadership practice is distributed among formal and informal leaders as they pool their expertise.

In this sense, distributed leadership is a form of collective agency incorporating the activities of many individuals in a school who work at mobilizing and guiding others.

Diversity

In education, discussions about diversity involve recognizing a variety of student needs including those of ethnicity, language, socioeconomic class, disabilities, and gender. School reforms attempt to address these issues to help all students succeed. Schools also respond to societal diversity by attempting to promote understanding and acceptance of cultural and other differences.

Enhancement Agreement

An Enhancement Agreement (EA) is a working agreement between a school district, all local Indigenous communities, and the Ministry of Education designed to enhance the educational achievement of Indigenous students. The EA establishes a collaborative partnership between Indigenous communities and school districts to promote shared decision-making and specific goal setting to meet the educational needs of Indigenous students.

This tool is well established as a way to include Indigenous people in decision-making and focus on measurable student outcomes.

Equity

Educational equity, also referred to as equity in education, is the situation where everyone is treated fairly and equally.

Ethical Dilemmas

Ethical dilemmas are the tough decisions that demand one's choice between one right value and another right value.

Ethical Practice

Ethical practice is behaviour that demonstrates a commitment to moral principles that are based on core or universal values of fairness, justice, respect, responsibility, honesty, compassion, inclusion, and tolerance.

Evaluation

A formal process used to assess an employee's strengths and areas of challenges by providing constructive feedback for growth.

First Peoples Principles of Learning

The province of British Columbia expects educators to embed Indigenous perspectives into all parts of the curriculum in a meaningful and authentic manner.

Inclusion

Inclusion is the principle that all students are entitled to equitable access to learning, achievement, and the pursuit of excellence in all aspects of their education. The practice of inclusion is not necessarily synonymous with integration and goes beyond placement to include meaningful participation and the promotion of interaction with others.

Inclusive Environment

Inclusion is the way in which we structure our schools, our classrooms and our lessons so that all our students learn and participate together. An inclusive classroom is one that creates a supportive environment for all learners by building a more responsive learning environment. An inclusive school or classroom can only be successful when all students feel they are truly part of that community. It is an environment where everyone feels valued.

Indigenous

Indigenous is now commonly used to replace Aboriginal. Indigenous includes First Nations, Inuit and Métis peoples in Canada.

Inquiry Based Learning

Inquiry-based learning is an approach to teaching and learning that places learners' questions, ideas, and observations at the centre of the learning experience. Educators play an active role throughout the process by establishing a culture where ideas are respectfully challenged, tested, redefined and viewed as improvable — moving children from a position of wondering to a position of enacted understanding and further questioning (Scardamalia, 2002). Underlying this approach is the idea that both educators and students share responsibility for learning, solving problems, making discoveries and rigorously testing the discoveries.

Interagency/External Agencies and Organizations

Education in our schools require political and public support so that the necessary resources are available to carry out critical functions of meeting the needs of all students. Examples of agencies and organizations are the Ministry of Children and Family Development, B.C. Teachers' Federation, Provincial and District Parent Advisory Councils, Neighbourhood Houses, Community Centers and Community Youth Programs, Health Authorities, WorkSafe BC, and Non-Profit Organizations.

Interpersonal Capacity

Interpersonal capacity is the ability to understand other people, what motivates them, how they work, and how to work cooperatively with them.

Leadership

Leadership is the process of influencing the activities of an organized group toward goal setting and goal achievement based more on personal credibility than authority.

Leadership can be defined as an act of influence involving reciprocal relationships through which members of an organization or community construct common meanings, build capacity, and enhance their ability to achieve shared goals. One of the responsibilities of leadership is to give a sense of direction, and to establish an overarching purpose.

Learning Community

Learning Community is the term given to schools in which staff members provide meaningful and sustained assistance to one another to improve teaching and learning. Learning communities are characterized by a shared mission, vision, and values, collective inquiry, collaborative teams, an orientation toward action and a willingness to experiment, commitment to continuous improvement, and a focus on achievement.

Learning Environments

A learning environment is the combined social, physical, psychological, relational, and pedagogical contexts within which learning takes place. The learning environment refers to routines and rituals that reflect values of community, inclusivity, diversity, and accountability for learning.

Legal and Contractual Obligations

Legal and contractual obligations are the responsibilities that the leader has for administering school acts and regulation, district policies (dictate what to do) and procedures (detail how to do it), external legal requirements, and the contractual agreements between school board employers and employees.

Management

Management is the bureaucratic aspect of administration which relies primarily on rational analysis to design methods, or internal and external processes with role descriptions to implement strategic plans. Management includes the technical and legal duties related to the hierarchical structure of the school system and involves compliance with legislation, policies or role descriptions as well as the stewardship of resources.

Metacognition

Metacognition refers to the processes used to plan, monitor, and assess one's understanding and performance.

Moral Courage

Moral courage is a commitment to moral principles, an awareness of the challenges involved in supporting those principles, and a willing endurance through those challenges. A leader needs courage over time, the willingness to take risks again and again, and the ability to function well under prolonged stress to keep pursuing the values and vision of the school.

Moral Purpose

Moral purpose expresses the organization's reason for existence. It requires is a strong commitment to making a difference and modeling for and engaging with others to build a community committed to that purpose.

Personalized Learning

Personalized learning occurs when teachers, students, and parents work together to make sure every student's needs are met, passions are explored, and goals are achieved. This means student-centered learning is focused on the needs, strengths, and aspirations of each student.

School Operations

School operations include responsibility for the maintenance and operations of the facilities, safety, fiscal and budgetary procedures, personnel practices, and resource acquisition within a framework of ministry, district, and school policy and procedures.

Systems Thinking

Systems thinking is a way of thinking about, and a language for describing and understanding, the forces and inter-relationships that shape the behaviour of the systems. This discipline helps us see how we can change systems more effectively.

Values

Values are deeply held views of what is found worthwhile. They have intrinsic worth and describe how we intend to operate as we pursue our vision.

Vision

Vision is a picture or image of the future you seek to create. It shows where the organization wants to go and what it will be like when it gets there. A vision gives shape and direction to an organization's future.
