

Mark Edwards

UBC Assistant Dean, Professional
Development & Community Engagement

Mark is the Assistant Dean, Professional Development & Community Engagement. One of his passions is mobilizing the remarkable research of UBC's Faculty of Education in the service of children in British Columbia and around the world.

Mark facilitates collaborative working relationships between the Faculty and the field for the development and provision of off-campus M.Ed. programs, Diploma programs, and Certificate programs.

Mark assists in the planning, marketing, and delivery of Distance Education, Direct Instruction, and cohort courses and programs. Another of his educational passions is collaborating in the development and support of school leaders in BC. This year will be the 16th time Mark has attended the Short Course.
